

Poetry Series

suzanne olivieri
- poems -

Publication Date:

2007

Publisher:

Poemhunter.com - The World's Poetry Archive

suzanne olivieri()

Aunt Barbara

You're my mom's big sis and an Aunt to me, besides her noone can love you more than me.

You bought me a Christening dress on a great day when you became my God mother, my Mom would have it no other way.

She chose you because she knew you would always be there for didn't realize what a great gift she could choose and you I never want to lose. Your there when I'm up, and when I'm down and talking to you always takes away my frown.

I was with you alot when I was a kid, even though I'm older I miss those days, but its nice when you call just to say 'Hey'!

Now Mom is gone and Auntie is there, with you there are things that I can finally bear.

I love and trust you and thank you for all you do, your now my baby's Grandma, thank God for you!

suzanne olivieri